

The Community Volunteer Information Center is located at Richmond Center during every second weekend of each month. Its purpose is to bring a wealth of information to the community. The information ranges from tourist information, community events, crisis information and volunteer opportunities. The volunteer team, consisting of many individuals from all walks of life, provides answers from simple question like where is the washroom to questions mattering to the well being of a person. These multicultural well informed individuals act as a map and the face of volunteerism in the City of Richmond. Without them, there would be a large hole as to where to find help in finding a job, the telephone number to a certain community organization or opportunities to volunteer in our community. Therefore, they are superheroes to the spirit of volunteering by acting as the face of various organizations in the community.

Entry by: Brenna Roberts, Lawrence Lee and Ray Young